Your Company

Please provide a brief summary of what service your company provides. If your company operates as a third-party provider obtaining financial data, please specify by which method you obtain that data.

FDATA has built outstanding relationships with key players in the government, regulatory, financial services and fintech sectors. The key to our success is the ability to convince our stakeholders that we are both experts in our field, and also guardians of the highest possible standards of security and ethics. Have either you or your company, or any Directors of your company, ever been subject to any regulatory or criminal action which could jeopardise that reputation?
